

Glass-Steagall for the Common Good

A monetary system that rewards debtors and speculators and punishes savers has created an environment of predatory behaviour. It is part of human nature to be greedy. It is a survival instinct. Unfortunately some people can't help themselves and more is never enough.

"Bail in" legislation will only perpetuate this kind of behaviour with dire consequences. Instead we urgently need a Glass-Steagall Act which protected depositors and the economy by separating commercial and investment banking

You have a social responsibility to the citizens of Australia to do the right thing and protect them.

Darren Commins
Citizen of Australia