

Gambling with our deposits.

I find it appalling that our banks are able to gamble with depositors funds. It really makes me wonder how the banks in USA managed to persuade the Government to allow them to gamble with depositors money.

I would certainly implore our government to separate commercial banking from speculative investment banking. If investment banks want to gamble their investors money that is OK, but believe we need to make depositors money safe in commercial banking and protect it from gambling.

I realize the world has a massive derivative debt and it will be costly to sort out, but that is better than GFC part2

Do not enable bail-in!
