

Financial Systems Inquiry

Stability – Addressing too Big to Fail

I understand that you as our government intend on allowing the member banks to utilize unsecured creditors (depositors) in the event their gambles on the international markets loose. It is my will as a Sovereign Individual and as part of the people sovereign to inform you that this path is unacceptable and that a clear division be made between commercial banking and investment bank.

This must be made clear to every person that intends to hold deposits in banks that use these deposits as leverage on any investments. The banks must first attain official consent of any depositor if they intend on using such investment methods. Therefore the Commonwealth Bank should be re-instated as the Publics commercial bank that only deals with commercial banking actions such as Deposits/Withdrawals and loan/mortgages.

Regards

Jason Blake